Dear Reader:

It does not matter if the Budget is declared passed, people all over the country should continue to hold meetings and protest against the unprecedented and intolerable tax burdens. In particular, the Goldsmiths should not be left alone and let down, but Popular sympathy should be shown for their plight. We should not assume that once the Congress Party in Parliament approves of the Budget and of what the Government has done, the matter is closed. Democracy must show that it is made of harder stuff than that.
