Dear Friend,

Many thanks for your felicitations on my election to our Party's General Council and many more for wishing me a happy Diwali. I cordially reciprocate your good wishes.

What is described as "job rotation" in your letter is a healthy practice and should be pursued. Your decision to step down from the Party's General Secretaryship is wise. Moreover as Chariman of the Public Accounts Committee you have no time.

May I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation for the good work you have put in as General Secretary for seven years from the very initiation of the Party? Your advice to nominate Mr. Dandeker as General Secretary for the next two years is sound.

Yours truly,

Lakshman Singh
