Your letter of 23rd April reached me only this morning on my return to Bombay from Saurashtra and I hasten to reply.

Even before your letter came I had already decided to come up to Delhi on the morning of 2nd May and will be there till the afternoon of the 5th. I understand that at my instance Mr. Mahida has arranged a meeting of Members of both Houses of Parliament at 12 noon to discuss the Budget. We shall undoubtedly meet again during my stay there to discuss more fundamental matters about the Party's functioning in Parliament.

I am sorry that things are in the state that you mention. I too am feeling terribly unhappy about the position of those of you who are there, with which I am in deep sympathy. I need hardly say that anything I can do to help you and if there is our other colleagues in Lok Sabha, I am entirely at your disposal.

With kind regards to Jai and yourself,

Yours sincerely,

(M. R. Masani)
