24th April 1962.

My dear Mahida,

Thank you for your letter of the 19th which evidently crossed my letter and telegram of the same date. Unfortunately I did not ^(know) that you had changed your address. I wish you had sent me a telegram to that effect. I had addressed the telegram and letter to the Constitution House. Not receiving a reply I sent you another telegram (copy attached) and am now anxiously awaiting your reply but I am unable to fix my flight until I know whether or not the meeting is being fixed for the 2nd. If not, I shall reach Delhi on the 3rd.

I am sorry to read what you say about the state of indiscipline prevalent. I shall try and do what I can when I am up in Delhi. Meanwhile please try and stop things from getting worse.

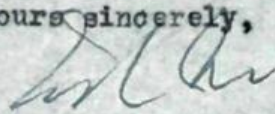

From today's press reports it is not clear what you and your colleagues did after all in regard to the election of the Deputy Speaker.

Will you kindly let me know your telephone number if you have got one installed at your residence by now.

I hope you are making use of Wahab Azad to help you in setting up the office of the Parliamentary Group and that this will be functioning before long.

Yours sincerely,
