SESSION "VERY MEMORABLE"

Lok Sabha Adjourns

"The Times of India" News Service

NEW DELHI, December 11: The Lok Sabha adjourned today till January 21. The next session is expected to last a week or ten days.

This short sitting of both the Houses of Parliament will be held mainly to consider further developments in regard to the conflict with China and other matters connected with the national emergency.

The regular budget session usually begins in the second week of February. In view of the January session, the budget session might begin a little later this year.

P.T.I. adds: "This will go down in history as a very memorable session," said the Speaker, Sardar Hukam Singh, to the members before adjourning the House. He asked them to remember, when they went back to their constituencies, the unity that had been demonstrated in the emergency. In the face of reverses they were united to a man and had shown that the people were a nation and forgotten their differences."

The Speaker said he had received letters from several members saying that they wanted to go back to their constituencies. There was enough work for them to do—the civil defence programme and other things.
