The National Executive of BKD feels greatly perturbed at the state of the nation today. While forces of internal subversion and disruption are raising their head throughout the country, the forces of nationalism and integration are getting weaker day by day. On one hand, multiplicity of political parties poses a danger to democracy within, on the other, foreign armies are poised on our frontiers threatening the integrity of the country from outside. At the same time, the Congress which has dominated the political scene hitherto, is engaged in mutual bickerings and decaying fast.

The National Executive of BKD, therefore, appeals to all the political parties believing in democracy and nationalism, to coalesce together to form one strong political organisation which will take the place of Congress in the national life in of the country.
