Tributes to Rajaji

By A Staff Reporter

Rajaji was an intellectual giant. His foresight was legendary and he had the courage of his conviction.

In these words the citizens of Bombay paid tributes to the late Mr. C. Rajagopalachari, at a meeting on Friday.

The condolence resolution adopted at the meeting said Rajaji's public life could not be classified into any one category of activity. He was a statesman, politician and political philosopher, a conservative yet a liberal, a litterateur par excellence.

Rajaji was Gandhiji's conscience keeper and after the death of the father of the nation he was the conscience keeper of the country.

In the last few years of his life, Rajaji's was the voice of dissent — loud and clear — and hence his death is a grievous blow to those who wish to protect democracy, the resolution added.
