My dear Piloo,

Thank you for your letter of July 8.

I do not know how you got the idea that I propose to have brain-storming sessions with Party workers throughout the country. I have <sup>not</sup> such intention. What I had implied in the course of my remarks in Madras was that I hope in course of time to convert members of the rank and file to my point of view in regard to methods of organisation and this I propose to do in a normal way as and when I get the opportunity. For instance, when I was in Lucknow recently, a meeting of Party workers was called. In answer to questions that were put to me regarding the Madras meeting, I explained my position and told the workers that the ball was in their court and it was for them to assert themselves.

If apart from this there is something concrete that you would like me to consider doing, I shall be happy to receive your suggestions.

Yours sincerely,
