You were right, Mr. Masani

I AM amused that Mr. Roopchand Pal, CPI-M MP and a few leftist MPs have sought to move a motion of breach of privilege against Mr. Minoo Masani for using a very apt epithet, "howling hooligans" against some of the irresponsible MPs who prevented Mr. Manmohan Singh, the finance minister, from presenting the budget for 15 minutes and held the Lok Sabha to ransom till the ring master, Mr. Shivraj Patil, the speaker, tamed them.

If the proceedings of the first 15 minutes of the opening budget session are retelecast, Mr. Roopchand Pal

Retirement age must be the same for all

I WOULD like to propose a slight amendment to the proposal made in his letter by Mr. K.K. Thakkar (March 18) regarding the retirement age-limit for high court and other judges.

Since retirement from a vocation for all categories of persons is a "must" at some stage or the other in life, instead of raising the retirement age-limit for the category of judges to 65 years, such an age-limit for our President, prime minister, chief ministers, other ministers and even the advocates ought to be, say, 60 years or thereabout, with a view to bringing about uniformity in retirement age-limit for all concerned.

Such a limit or bar on the retirement age-limit would also enable elimination of disparity — amongst the different categories of dignities and introduce equality for all, big or small.

and his supporters can see for themselves whether Mr. Minoo Masani's epithet is apt, understatement or objectionable. What "privilege" are they talking about? The privilege to hold the Lok Sabha to ransom and to convert it into a fish market or village Akhada.

Not one of our millions of viewers could make out what these blessed MPs were speaking; they were just shouting at one another. We could not even make out what they were shouting about, as ten or 12 MPs were shouting at the top of their voice at the same time. Were they behaving like disciplined and dignified MPs or behaving like howling hooligans?

Can "speaking the truth" be a matter of breach of privilege in a country whose motto is Satyameva Jayate? Mr. Minoo Masani called only those MPs who held the Lok Sabha to ransom "howling hooligans" and certainly not all the MPs.

Will some Parsi reader shed light?

BUSYBEE's Round And About (March 20) has a dish which he calls aradhiyun. I think he means Oombar-iu as I have not heard of aradhiyun in my 60 years. May be some Parsi reader will set him and me right.

And may I please take this opportunity of wishing you all a happy Navroz. In your supplement you have mentioned "Ideal Corner". Would you kindly let us have the address/telephone no. of this eatery? I would like to try their sandwiches/burgers.
