Dear Sir,

Thank you for your letter of October 9 and the kind invitation to contribute to your Special Jubilee Number of Industry and Finance. Much as I regret it, I am unable to find time to undertake any further writing work. You will kindly therefore excuse me.

Yours truly,

(M. R. Masani)

1967

I have great pleasure in inviting you to contribute an article on a subject of your choice for publication in the Special Jubilee Number of "INDUSTRY & FINANCE" which is scheduled to be published in December 1967. This unique Number will contain authoritative articles on a wide variety of subjects penned by leading captains of industry and trade, economists and thinkers of international repute as well as renowned technicians. It will be circulated not only in India but also among our trade commissioners and embassies abroad, besides scores of libraries all over the world.

It need not be emphasised that the issue will be a monumental one. Hence I would appreciate your sending me a photograph and a brief biographical sketch of yours for publication in the said issue.

Should you desire me to call on your goodself personally I shall be pleased to do so on hearing from you.

Looking forward to receiving your esteemed co-operation while thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

B. P. Khan
