Dear Sir,

This is my message for your meeting on 6th February.

The great day of every religious community is a sacred day for all the communities of India. I am firmly convinced that without the positive inspiration of religion, we can achieve nothing truly great, or lasting and good.

The Swatantra Party assures the Mussulmans of India that it will always work for impartiality and due respect for all religious and rites and ceremonies observed by their followers. The Swatantra Party invites people of all religions to join in the struggle for a free life and a free economy irrespective of their working for their interests in any other organization of their own.

Yours sincerely,

C. Rajagopalachari
