The attached note 'On Education' embodies a few suggestions to evoke the voluntary cooperation of students to improve their own health and discipline. It is felt that a psychological approach to this problem will be most effective.

The Progress Book suggested to be kept for all students from the age of 10 to age 21 will itself have a psychological effect on students and their parents and guardians.

These suggestions will supplement all other efforts to improve the health and discipline of our students. They do not involve any appreciable extra expenditure. Much will be gained and nothing lost by their acceptance.
