My dear Shri Masani,

I am sorry that due to a sprain I could not meet you in Bombay.

I had a detailed talk with Raju. Shri Jai Prakash Narayan is coming here on the 5th January 1975. The Chhatra Samgharsh Samiti is holding its meeting in my hall. It is a conglomeration like the Grand Alliance and has many limitations. The new generation has no idea of a political movement. I do not think that in M.P. this movement is going to make a big impact. Bihar is different but in other States there is no charismatic leader, like Shri J.P. and, therefore, I have my misgivings.

Yesterday the Secretaries of the Bharatiya Lok Dal met me. It is a hotch potch. I refused to join BLD.

There is no Citizens for Democracy forum here, I have suggested the leaders to form one.

My book "A Handbook of Modern Hindi Literature" is being published in January 75. Macmillans have shown their interest in my biography of Shivaji. It may be published in 1975.

I am translating late Lord Russell's Power and planning for a novel.

Are you coming to Nagpur for the World Hindi Convention ? It will be a good thing if you come. It will demolish the myth of your being anti-Hindi.

With best wishes for 1975,

yours sincerely
